

MALS-29 COMMANDING OFFICER
UNIT, PERSONAL AND FAMILY READINESS POLICY

Readiness is the responsibility of every Marine and Sailor.

The Commandant of the Marine Corps has authorized the Unit, Personal and Family Readiness Program with the goal of maintaining optimum unit and personal effectiveness, thereby enhancing operational readiness. This can be achieved by reaching and maintaining individual, organizational and family resilience to mission, career and life cycle events. Marine Aviation Logistics Squadron-29 (MALS-29) will support the Commandant's program to the fullest extent in the pursuit of this goal.

The Corps' most valuable resource is the individual Marine and their family. My intent is to establish and maintain maximum esprit, proficiency and readiness through a proactive program of communication, timely and applicable referral to supporting programs and agencies, and fiscally responsible execution of command sponsored events designed to support, educate and empower the MALS-29 team.

I take personal ownership of the Unit, Personal and Family Readiness Program in MALS-29 and will keep faith with our Marines, and families, including our single Marines, with unit programs which are compliant with MCO 1754.9A and supporting guidance and directives. Unit leaders will ensure availability and access to support programs and resources. The program will encompass Active and Reserve Component personnel, permanent personnel, deployed personnel, personnel on temporary additional duties (TAD) in our Area of Responsibility, as well as our civilian Marines. The Unit, Personal and Family Readiness Program will be a superior support network which enables our Marines and Sailors to effectively do their job, whether on the front line or the home front.

My intent is to support you and your family every way possible. I will do that by having a MALS-29 Unit, Personal and Family readiness Program that is sought out for it's proactive communication, precise and timely referral to supporting agencies, and cooperative partnerships to provide effective readiness and deployment support. Additionally, we will fully support and encourage our volunteers in the family readiness program.

Thank you for your commitment to enhanced unit, personal and family readiness in Marine Aviation Logistics Squadron-29. I am constantly aware of your dedication and professionalism and ask you to join me in making our team stronger with your full support in family readiness. Semper Fidelis!
